RECITAL

At the Second M. E. Church
South on Thursday Night

On Thursday night, the Epworth League will give a recital at the Second M. E. Church South and have prepared an excellent program for the occasion as follows:

Humoresque, Mr. Newell Stickley
A Psalm, Mrs. James Dawson
Prayer, Rev. J. W. Simpson
A Perfect Day, Mr. Newell Stickley
From a Far Country, Miss Hattie Simpson
William Tell, J. Robert Currey
Nature Awaits Thee, Mrs. J. K. Seip
The Night Cometh, Miss Ruth Willitt
The Shepherd's Love Song, Miss Gladys Tomlinson
Only Waiting—Now the Day is Over, Miss Lisle Simpson
The Dumb Waiter's Difficulty, Miss Mamie Tully
The Garden of Roses, Newell Stickley, Frank Nash, Raymond Muse, J. Robert Currey

BEAUTY SPOTS

The lawn about "The Kirk" is as beautiful as will be found anywhere in this locality. Custodian William Dixey is very proud of it.

The grounds of the First Ward School building are better looking this year than ever. The recently planted hedges are coming out wonderfully under the careful supervision of Custodian William Outten.

The lawn of the car barn is the target of many compliments, which are well earned as Supt. Beecher Holliday has the grounds in fine shape.

The home of Mr. W. E. Wells in East Second street is one of the most beautiful in the city. The house with its pleasing colors harmonizes with the green lawn making a very beautiful home.

CLEANING UP.

Beautiful Beechwood Park is undergoing a thorough cleaning, preparatory to the Chautauqua to be held there in the near future.

M. H. S. SENIORS CONDUCT CHAPEL

On Monday morning members of the Senior class of 1915, Maysville High School, conducted chapel exercises during which the members of the class impersonated the dignitaries who have addressed the high school during the past year. While each number of the interesting program is worthy of special mention, John W. Matthews, as Superintendent Caplinger, was particularly realistic. Miss Elizabeth Peed as Mother Leymann showed talent as a mimic, and Miss Ruth Thomas as Miss Margaret Habbermann and Miss Martha Green Sharp as Miss Hilda Threlkeld so faithfully portrayed the originals that it was difficult to realize that it was but an impersonation.

Following is the program:

Supt. W. J. Caplinger, John W. Matthews
Prof. G. C. Manee, Herman L. Calvert
Prof. J. A. Bell, B. Gordon Marsh
Prof. C. S. Dale, George W. Hunt
Miss Nell Sutherland, Miss Mary Adelaide Cummins
Miss Hilda Threlkeld, Miss Martha Green Sharp
Miss Margaret Habbermann, Miss Ruth Thomas
Miss Huez Luten, Miss Edith Hoelich
Miss Edith Dickson, Miss Hazel Aldrich
Miss Dorothy Dond Siddall, Miss Amy Baugh
Rev. Snigges, Franklin Slye
Mother Leymann, Miss Elizabeth Peed
Miss Casey, Lola Chamberlain
Prof. Crooks, Myron Daniel Merz
The Bumbo Quartet, Miss Esther Ort
Miss Grunt, Miss Emma Richie Stevens
Miss Bellow, Miss Julia Mase
Miss Seream, Miss Clara Stone
Miss Groom, Miss Elizabeth Boughton
Mr. Discord (Accompanist), Do Edwin Matthews
Charles Hubbard, Francis Hopper

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Fifth Ward will hold their regular meeting on next Friday at 3 o'clock p. m. in the school building. This is to be next to the last meeting before adjourning for the summer. There will also be election of officers at this time as well as receiving the yearly reports. All interested are urged to be present.

The Young People's Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church South will meet at the church this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Jacob Posner of this city was in Cincinnati Tuesday on business.

RAILWAY AND CITY MEET OVER BRICK STREETS

Tuesday afternoon representatives of the Maysville Street Railway and Terminal Company met with representatives of the city, in the Mayor's office, to discuss the question of traffic obstruction during the construction of the brick streets. The railway company was represented by Messrs. W. H. Cox, J. J. Weaver, Samuel Hall and Horace Cochran and the city's representatives were Mayor J. W. Lee, and Councilmen I. N. Foster, J. C. Everett, G. W. Crowell, Oliver Greenlee, Sherman Arn and F. L. Hendrickson and City Attorney John Callahan.

The question was discussed at some length and the railway company offered to relay their track, at their own expense, placing it in the center of the street, from the intersection of Bridge and Third streets, along Bridge street to the Limestone bridge and from the east end of Limestone bridge along Second street to Carmel street, provided the city agrees that the paving will be done in sections of not more than 1000 feet at a time, in order to interfere with street car traffic as little as possible and provided the Maysville Public Service corporation sell the gravel used in the street construction. It was finally determined to cause a contract to be drawn by the attorneys for the railway company and the city attorney which will be submitted at another meeting to be held in the near future.

"DeNUZIE" OPENING DAY TOMORROW

On tomorrow "DeNuzie," Maysville's popular book and gift store will formally open its new home to its many friends and patrons, and has arranged a pianola-player recital between the hours of 2 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening to be rendered by an expert from the Aeolian Company upon one of their finest instruments.

The new home is fitted throughout with new fixtures and the latest mission, finish cases, is thoroughly equipped in every particular with a new and complete stock containing anything that could be wished for in the stationery, leather goods or gift line and stands as a splendid tribute to the energetic and progressive management.

There will be souvenirs for all and the public is cordially invited to attend both recitals and to make DeNuzie's New Home their headquarters at all times.

ISAAC N. WATSON

Isaac N. Watson, aged 35 years, passed away at his home in Forest avenue Tuesday at 11 a. m., after a six weeks illness of typhoid pneumonia. Mr. Watson was one of the best liked men in this city and many friends and acquaintances will mourn his loss. Besides his wife he is survived by his mother, Mrs. America Watson of this city, four brothers, George, of this city, Fred, and Leslie of the county, and Henry, of the U. S. Marines, stationed at Philadelphia; three sisters, Mrs. Nancy Hester, of the county, Mrs. C. Hilderbrand, and Mrs. H. Parker, of Cincinnati. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m. Interment in the Maysville cemetery.

CHILDREN'S DAY THIRD STREET M. E. CHURCH

Children's Day practice at Third Street M. E. Church at 7:30 this evening. All those having part in the drill are expected to be present.

Children's Day is one of the big days with this school. Their programs are always of high order. The one this year will be up to the standard if not better. The school is expecting a large attendance Sunday morning when the offering by the school is made for Christian education. Quite a rivalry is up between the classes as to which will make the best offering and win a beautiful wall motto. The program to be given Sunday evening will appear in a few days.

CONDITION OF FORMER MAYOR WORSE

Late reports from the bedside of former Mayor W. E. Stallcup state that he is growing weaker and that his condition is worse.

The fishing party planned by Winsome Class of the First M. E. Church South has been again postponed on account of the inclement weather.

AVIATOR AL WILSON

Chicago's most daring and reckless aviator has completed all arrangements for the flights at the ball park next Sunday afternoon.

Wilson is by no means an aviator who loves the ground more than the air. The air is where he likes to be and this will be demonstrated to the Maysville people even before Sunday. He is only twenty-two years old and has been flying for four years. His teacher being Art Smith, the famous loop the loop flyer. The Esjay Aero Company of Chicago received a telegram from an aviator at Parks Hill requesting them to send a high powered and speedy aeroplane there to fill their engagement as they had broken down, but upon arrival there they failed to come to an agreement as to the financial end of it, therefore we shall have the best aviator that Chicago has to brag about with us next Sunday.

The speedy, headless biplane he uses has a speed of eighty-five miles per hour in a straight course and Wilson says on his second and last flight Sunday he will show the people a speed of two hundred and fifty miles an hour in his descent into the ball grounds. Wilson says ball players will be wise if they stick close to the grand stand when he is coming down, or there may be some pulverized aviators, aeroplanes and ball players to be sorted out.

Mr. Jess Brough of Helena was in this city Tuesday on business.

A CENTRAL STATION FOR RURAL BUSES

For some time there has been talk of establishing a central station for all bus lines entering the city, and a few meetings ago a petition was presented to council asking permission to establish such a depot without cost to the city. The petition was referred to the proper committee which has not yet reported.

There are many visitors, who come upon business as well as for pleasure, who have no means of getting to and from the city except the rural bus lines, and under present conditions they are compelled to look up their particular bus, at about the time they imagine it ought to leave, often missing it because the driver has been compelled to select some other than the accustomed stand for that day, or has selected some new route to leave town. These buses also do quite a package delivery business all along their routes, and many a package has been delivered a day late simply because the merchant could not locate the bus.

Such a station or depot centrally located would be a great convenience not only to those who travel but to the merchants of the city as well. Provision would be made at the station for parking the buses which would, upon their arrival in town, immediately proceed to that point. A waiting room would be erected where the passengers would be protected from all kinds of weather and in which each bus line would post a schedule of the arrival and departure of its cars, including their route out of town. A telephone could be installed and those bus drivers who are entrusted with the execution of errands could, upon arrival, phone them to the various merchants which would facilitate the filling of orders and enable delivery to the station before time of departure.

The passengers would have definite information as to the point from which their bus would leave and the hour of departure which would allow them full time to attend to their business and complete their shopping and would do away with the loss of time which they now experience in looking up the bus and in waiting for the indefinite departure. They could have their purchases delivered to the station in care of their bus line which would relieve them of carrying their packages from place to place and would enable them to transact more business.

The advantages to be derived from establishing such a station are many and as the petition itself removed the one stumbling block over which council seems to trip in its efforts toward public improvement, for it said without cost to the city, it would seem that action by the committee should not be further delayed.

A man's way of telling his wife "all" is to find out first just how much she knows, and then frankly and nobly "admit" about half of it.

The record of the Barnes-Roosevelt trial would make a grand opera if it were possible to find a genius to write the music for it.

Our French.

Professor Poussin, the Belgian refugee professor at Harvard, was pinned, at a dinner in his honor, by the applause and cheers which greeted his description of ruined Louvain and wrecked Liege. But when it was explained to Professor Poussin that the Harvard professors and students had a very slight knowledge of French—he had spoken in French—his perplexity vanished, and he smiled.

"I see," he said. "I see. It is like the case of Mrs. Smith."

Mr. Smith, an American, said to his wife at a Paris restaurant:

"Strange! I spoke to the proprietor in French, and he didn't understand me."

"Well," said Mrs. Smith, "no wonder. He's a Frenchman."

Mary Jane and beau after stormy weather
Used to pace along where pebbles rolled,
Searching as if they sought for nuggets of gold.

Though the treasure in fact was different quite,

Till gathering darkness made them both stop,
And her beau got her home at a jewelry shop.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING IS THE ROAD TO ECONOMY.

The Oven Thermometer

There is no question but that the oven thermometer is a very great help in cake, bread and pastry baking, and it does not require vast experience to use one of these assistants.

There are many who have asked how these are attached to ovens, length of time required for process and if they are practical for all stoves. The reply is that the oven thermometer need not be fastened securely to the oven door, it may set or stand on the oven rack, and can be used to advantage in any oven. The writer knows of four of these thermometers, each a little different from another, that work splendidly. Their cost is nominal when you consider that fuel is saved, and that material will not be wasted through improper baking once they are purchased.

Usually we have the oven too hot, and so, before our cake mixtures have opportunity to rise, a heavy crust forms and our baking is not light.

All ovens act differently, according to fuel, draft and dampers, so a general rule cannot be fixed, but by observation you can soon see what heat gives you best results.

Cookery thermometers or pyrometers are marked from 200 to 500 degrees. Temperature of 400 to 500 is called "quick" or "sharp" heat, and this is thought right for rolls; 350 is for rye bread, whole wheat and graham mixtures.

The following table will be as nearly correct as can be made off-hand:

	Put in at	Keep at
Puff pastry	340	340
Meat pies	280	240
Bread	280	220
Park and veal	250	230
Beef and mutton	240	220
Light plain cakes	300 to 340	300
Rich cakes	250 to 300	240
Biscuits	320	340
Meringues	200	200

The richer cakes are, the less heat they should have in baking, but 200 is too low for anything else than fruit and similar cakes, souffles and meringues.

The idea seems to prevail that beginners in the work of cookery will accustom themselves more quickly to the use of oven indicators than experienced cooks, who have long used the test and try methods. Will. This is not true, for I have asked a number of women who have kept house for a generation and only recently used thermometers if they were of value and in every case the reply was the same. "I could not bake without that thing now, if I had to."

You will find these instruments on sale wherever household thermometers and similar indicators are to be had. The price ranges from one to three dollars.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Maysville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed. Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidney's cry for help. Heed it.

Read what Doan's have done for Maysville people.

Lang Stevens, Maysville, Ky., says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had backache, which extended into my kidneys. The kidney action was irregular. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family, so I gave them a trial. They helped me greatly."

Mr. Stevens is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. PRESIDENT BEGINS DRAFT
OF REPLY TO GERMANY

Will Re-Affirm Former Attitude
In Language Easily Understood.

Washington, June 1—President Wilson has begun the rough draft of his reply to the German note. Those in a position to understand the situation declare that the President proposes to reaffirm his attitude towards Germany in even more positive language than that which he used in the first note.

The German ambassador, Count Von Bernstorff, made an appointment today to have a conference with President Wilson on Wednesday. He called at the state department early today to make the appointment. It is therefore not at all likely that the president will put his reply in definite shape until after the conference with the ambassador. Count Von Bernstorff may have some important declaration to make to the president from his home government. The fact that the ambassador is to talk with the president gives reason for the hope that the present tension might be eased as a result of the conference Wednesday.

ATTENTION, ELKS.

THE BED ROOM

To often the bed room is considered as just a place to sleep; a part of the house that does not require any special attention as to lighting because it is seen only by members of the family.

Yet correct lighting arrangement—the installation of harmonious chandeliers, in a manner to give effective illumination—will make this one of the most used rooms of the whole house—a cozy home in itself.

By the use of a simple, but graceful chandelier in the center of the room, and two or more wall brackets of harmonious design, the bedroom is fitted to serve as a study or sewing room.

Then, too, a wall bracket placed at each side of the dresser adds much to the ease and pleasure of dressing. Only when she has a perfect light by which to make her toilet can Milady be absolutely certain that every little detail is as it should be.

LOVES OF GREAT AMERICANS.

John C. Fremont's Wooing

This is the story of an American girl—rich and most beautiful of her day—whose name is still famous, and who died, heartbroken, nearly two centuries ago. She was Evelyn Byrd. Her father was Col. William Byrd, statesman, courtier and vast landowner. His James River estate of Westover, in Virginia, stretched for miles back from the stream; and its manor house was the most beautiful in all the South.

When Evelyn was still in her early teens her father took her and her mother to England. There his wife died, and he devoted himself to the education of his daughter and to fitting her for the high rank he had planned for her.

Byrd was rich and of powerful influences; and his daughter was acclaimed as a beauty, even in a court where beautiful women were many. At sixteen she was "presented," and at once her sway over men's hearts began.

The Girl and the Earl

The Earl of Oxford was among her most ardent admirers. So was Pope, the poet. So was the polished, if priggish, Lord Chesterfield the peer whose letters to his boorish son have become classics. Bonn Nash, the elderly exquisitesite, who at a nod or a frown could make or mar any girl's chances in English society, went wild over Evelyn Byrd. He also devised in her honor the following dreary pun, which passed as a brilliant epigram among his flatterers, but which would be grommed off the vaudeville stage on the "small-time circuit" today.

"I wonder," lisped the aged Beau, "that more of our young men do not go to Virginia to study ornithology, since such gloriously lovely birds are to be found there."

To all her admirers' vows Evelyn turned a deaf ear until she chanced to meet Charles Mordaunt, grandson and heir of the Earl of Peterborough. They met first at a horse race, where his reckless feats as a "gentleman rider" caught her attention. Mordaunt fell in love with Evelyn at sight. He laid his heart at her feet. She gladly consented to marry him, and he applied to Col. William Byrd for permission. Then trouble set in.

The Colonel, who could not as a rule refuse his daughter anything, sternly forbade the match. Not only because Charles was of different religious creed from his own, but because of a family feud that had long waged between the Byrds and the Peterboroughs.

To break off the affair completely, Col. Byrd brought the sorrowing Evelyn back to America on the next ship. According to most accounts, as soon as Charles became Earl of Peterborough, he followed her, in disguise, to Westover.

Col. Byrd apparently did not know his visitor's identity, but received him graciously. The next day he took the guest for a stroll through the grounds of Westover. Passing through a gate Byrd suddenly turned on the younger man and said:

"As we are no longer on my land, you are not now my guest; so I may speak plainly."

"Died of a Broken Heart."

He went on to give the Earl a fierce tongue-lashing, and to forbid him, under dire penalties, to set foot on Westover again.

He took care to prevent Evelyn from seeing her suitor during the rest of Peterborough's hopeless stay in Virginia. It is said that Evelyn and the Earl planned to elope soon after this, but that a storm spoiled the project.

Peterborough went back to England; Evelyn's health began to decline. She would not mingle in Colonial society or so much as see the throng of youths who came courting her.

A few months later (in November, 1737,) she died. "Of a broken heart," says the old chronicle of her life.

LONG DREADED VISIT TO WORLD'S LARGEST CITY NOW REPORTED

London, June 1.—Zeppelin passed over the outlying districts of London last night, according to official announcement of the press bureau made shortly after midnight. The press bureau adds the following note to its bulletin: "Further particulars will be issued as soon as collected and collated."

The bureau then reminds the newspapers of London in a further warning that "no statement must be published dealing with places in the neighborhood of London reached by the aircrafts or the course supposed to have been taken by them."

It adds that "the admiralty in a communication will give out all the news which can properly be published."

This intimation is published to explain the absence of more detailed reports.

JAPAN DECIDES TO INCREASE HER ARMY

Tokio, May 31.—The Budget Committee of the House today approved the project to increase the standing army of Japan. The measure provides for the addition of two divisions, or about 24,000 men. The previous Diet was dissolved by the Emperor in December last for declining to uphold the program of the Ministry for Military Development.

The Budget Committee also approved a measure for the construction of three submarines and eight torpedo boat destroyers.

GERMANY CALLS ON LAST OF RESERVES

Amsterdam, Holland, May 31 (via London, 1:14 p. m.).—The Reichsanzeiger, of Berlin, has published an order calling to the colors all first-class members of the landsturm, or the final reserve forces, not previously summoned. This order does not apply to Bavaria. Germans in Germany must report between June 8 and June 10. Germans outside of Germany as soon as possible.

LAST FIGHT

To Save Leo Frank From Gallows On at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., June 1.—The last fight to save Leo M. Frank from the death penalty began here today with preparations for the hearing before the State Prison Commission on his application for commutation of sentence.

Frank's counsel have fought his case through the various State and federal courts and before the United States Supreme Court without a reversal of the original verdict of conviction and the appeal for clemency is a last resort. His execution has been set for June 22.

William Howard, in charge of Frank's case, was prepared to emphasize in his arguments the doubt as to the prisoner's guilt expressed by the late Judge Roon, who presided at the trial; the dissenting opinion of two judges of the State supreme court when a decision was rendered affirming the findings of the lower court, and the dissenting opinion of Justices Holmes and Hughes of the United States supreme court, when that tribunal denied Frank's appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

Frank's counsel also was expected to file with the commission a letter written by Judge Roon just before his death in which it was said he reiterated his doubt as to Frank's guilt and urged executive clemency.

Delegations from several cities in Georgia, Chicago and elsewhere were here prepared to offer arguments in Frank's behalf. Communications before the commission included a letter from Solicitor Dorsey, who presented Frank, protesting against clemency; the brief of Frank's attorneys, and an argument by Hooper Alexander, United States attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, who as a private citizen appealed for commutation.

LETTUCE PROFITABLE

Lettuce, when properly grown, put up and marketed, may be made one of the most remunerative crops. It is easy to grow, withstands light frosts, is easy to put up for market, is light to handle, and is always in demand. writes C. L. Blodget in the Country Gentleman.

A sweet, mellow, medium-light leam, containing plenty of humus and an abundance of quickly available fertilizers to insure continuous growth from start to time of cutting, satisfies the soil requirements of lettuce.

Prepare the piece of land where the plants. Should you wish to put under a good coat of well rotted stable manure. Work the ground into a fine tilth as possible by first disking thoroughly with the wheel harrow. A good application of some high-grade fertilizer should now be put on. Finish off the piece by using a smoothing harrow.

Choose if possible a cloudy day or even a rainy day to set the plants. Place them one foot apart in the rows. Keep the slide or wheel hoe moving and go through on your knees once or twice and loosen the dirt round and between the plants. Should you wish to hurry the plants along, an application of nitrate of soda will do the trick.

When through cutting the first crop, manure, plow, disk and fertilize the ground as before, and plant again to lettuce, sowing the seed in rows twelve inches apart. When the seedlings are an inch and a half or two inches high thin them to a foot apart. Many growers make the mistake of improperly thinning their crops.

Never cut lettuce when the sun is bright. It then has a wilted appearance and even though it freshens slightly after washing the heads are not crisp and do not fill the boxes well. Always cut lettuce after the sun goes down, or better still, early in the morning when the dew is on the leaves.

DEATH OF W. W. HOLTON

Word was received here Tuesday morning that Mr. W. W. Holton, aged 78, a former business man of this city, died at his home in Nevada, Mo. For a number of years he conducted a dry goods store at the place now occupied by Bauer & Klipp, on West Second street. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Anna Holton of this city, and is survived by one son, His wife, who was Miss Martha Arnold of this county, died sev-

Former Lieutenant Governor W. H. Cox, of Louisville, was in the city Tuesday shaking hands with his friends. The "Gov." is looking fine and seems to be enjoying the best of health.

GULFIGHT TORPEDOED THROUGH MISTAKE

Washington, June 1.—Ambassador Gerard at Berlin has formally notified the state department that the American steamer Gulfight was sunk through mistake. The German submarine commander reported that he failed to notice the Gulfight's American flag and took her for a British vessel.

The state department's announcement tonight says:

"The American ambassador at Berlin reports that the chief of the admiralty's staff, Admiral Bannke, has informed him that the commander of the submarine which sank the Gulfight did so through a mistake, because two boats, similar to trawlers, one carrying wireless apparatus, were conveying the Gulfight. The commander, therefore, thought it was a British vessel and did not notice the American flag on the stern until just after giving the order to fire."

WOMEN FROM 45 TO 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."

—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."

—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

BLUEGRASS SEED CROP IS WORTH QUARTER MILLION

Lexington, Ky., May 31.—The harvesting of the Bluegrass seed crop of Central Kentucky, which is worth approximately a quarter of a million dollars, will begin in a few days. The prospects for a big yield are very encouraging, as the drouth in April and the succeeding cool weather have had a tendency to bring out the crop. The price offered now is in the neighborhood of $1 per bushel, but an advance is expected as soon as the harvest is under way and the demand becomes stronger. The grass stalks are said to be shorter than usual this year, which will make the seed difficult to gather. Much of the crop will find its way to this city, where there are several large seed houses which buy and store the crop for future disposition.

PECULIAR CASE

On Monday Mr. Fred Zwiagart, who lives below this city became annoyed by the loud language of some small boys who were playing in front of his residence, and told them to move. All went away but a negro lad named Laurence Cunningham, aged 9. This fellow it is said gave some back talk and Mr. Zwiagart administered unto him in the way of a good spanking. His parents became angered and had Mr. Zwiagart brought before the court on the charge of breach of peace. After hearing the testimony of the plaintiff, Laurence Cunningham, his mother, Louise Cunningham, and several of the neighboring women, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. McFord, Mrs. Lyons, Mr. Daniel Boone, and the defendant Mr. Zwiagart, who said he had spanked the boy, the Squire turned the case over to the jury, composed of Messrs Andrew J. Boyd, Walter Swisher, Mt. Lindsey, Will McDonough, and Lemuel Dalton, who promptly brought in a verdict of not guilty. This is the first time in the history of a court in Mason county that the plaintiff has been freed after admitting the charge brought against him and demonstrates that this jury believes the citizens should be free to put an end to annoyances from neighborhood boys.

YANCEY—JACKSON

Miss Elizabeth Yancey of the county will be united in matrimony to Prof. William B. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Yancey of the county and is well liked by her large circle of acquaintances. The groom is one of the rising young educators of the state and has been affiliated with the Mayslick School for more than five years. The Ledger joins with their many friends in wishing them all happiness and success.
